The Mannlicher Collectors Association, Inc., is an NRA affiliated, non-profit, research, educational, and fraternal society organized in 1984 to serve students and collectors of Mannlicher and Steyr-made arms worldwide. The Mannlicher Collectors Association enjoys the approval of Steyr-Mannlicher A.G. whose logos and trademarks are used with permission.

“Servire et Conservare,” to serve and to conserve, the association’s motto, describes our purposes of edification and of preservation of arms and their history.

The namesake of the association, Ferdinand Ritter von Mannlicher, earned his place in history as one of the world’s most important and prolific designer of firearms. For well over a century sportsmen and armies from many nations have found his designs and adaptations from them remarkably practical, reliable and as manufactured by the Steyr armory, of exquisite quality.

Persons interested in Mannlicher firearms, the history of armsmaking, old world craftsmanship, and the “sporting life”, owe themselves a M.C.A. membership.

Many members specialize in particular models or calibers, some study military and law-enforcement designs, some handguns, while others collect or use Steyr-made sporting arms afield.

Among the association’s membership are notables as well as beginning collectors who consider Steyr and Mannlicher firearms artifacts of history, objects of art and tools of sport. Some are owners, or would like to be, of a single example, while others are dedicated to building highly representative collections.

The Mannlicher Collectors Association provides an active forum for sharing otherwise unavailable knowledge and for fellowship among like-minded individuals who appreciate excellence, especially in the Steyr marque.

JOURNAL:

Published quarterly, The Mannlicher Collector, conveys much about the association’s activities, as well as articles about Mannlicher models, products and loading data, much of which is available nowhere else. The masthead of The Mannlicher Collector reveals a level of academic credentials and scholarship without known peer in publications of the arms collecting world.

Our illustrated journal includes technical articles, reloading data, questions & answers, correspondence, profiles of famous Mannlicher owners, information on Mannlicher arms identification and values, photographs and reports of “Mannlichers Afield” and translations of pertinent articles published around the world.

In addition to receiving our journal members may receive free advertisements in the classified section. Steyr-Mannlicher, in Austria, recommends The Mannlicher Collector journal as the best source of Mannlicher parts and information.

ANNUAL MEETING:

The Mannlicher Collectors Association Annual Convention is held each year in conjunction with a major gun show. Annual meetings are fun and give collectors and enthusiasts a chance to meet, become friends display our special firearms.

ARCHIVES:

The Steyr factory, collectors in Europe, and the NRA report that the Mannlicher Collectors Association has more information on Mannlicher arms than any other source. We are constantly adding to our Archives and assisting in the identification of and research on Mannlicher, Steyr, and continental arms.

Reprints of Steyr factory literature, including rare catalogues, videos of European arms manufacturing and hunting, and back issues of The Mannlicher Collector are available to all members.
